Rumors Live

in the Street

The Angry Swedes

A rumor is a story that lives in the street because it has no home to go to. That is, no one will guarantee any part of it is true.

One of the oldest rumors around any town is that such-and-such an industry wanted to come here but folks "wouldn't let it." I hear this particular story revived about Hope on the occasion of Prescott getting a huge paper mill.

As the story goes, Hope was offered a big paper mill some time ago but "wasn't interested". The facts, however, are:

Before there was a paper mill location was sought somewhere in Southwest Arkansas. My recollection is that the matter was discussed in Hope business circles. My further recollection is that, knowing a paper mill has to have vast quantities of water, a location was suggested on Red River near Fulton. But filtering out the sill from that loaded stream was too much of a problem. A more favorable location was considered west of McNab on Little river, a clear-water stream — but timber is largely cut out in that area.

Nothing came of the suggested Hempstead county site, and now we have the accomplished fact of a paper mill in Nevada county. Well, Hope itself never had a chance, for we have no important water supply in our immediate neighborhood. And the Nevada county location wasn't made at Prescott, for the same reason, but about six miles east, near Little Missouri river.

Don't see how Hope has come out very badly in this development. After Prescott the nearest town to the Nevada county mill location is Gurdon at 13 miles. Next is Hope at 21 miles, and then there is Arkadelphia at 28 miles.

Had we actually located a mill near McNab the traffic from that mill would have had to pass through Fulton — and Fulton is only 15 miles from Texarkana compared to 15 miles from Hope.

What do you think?

The Swedes are not only independent but they have an eloquent gift for making everybody mind.

When Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma criticized Sweden this week for not paying enough attention to his congressional touring committee the Swedish press struck back with this fighting language:

"The United States Senate... is a dumping place for... the most ignorant country politicians from the darkest corners of the union. And it must be pretty dark in Oklahoma."

That love it. Next thing you know Oklahoma will send its football team overseas and there'll be a great scattering of Swedes.

Europe Must Drop Prices Says Truman

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP) — President Truman today sent to Congress a Marshall plan report declaring that Europe must lower its prices to compete in the United States market for the American consumer's dollar.

"The United States, of course, must be willing to accept greater competition from European suppliers in order to help Europe pay its way," said the study prepared by the economic cooperation administration.

Even if European sales in the United States were doubled this restoring Europe's pre-war share of this market — the volume would represent less than one per cent of this country's total output and would "only be scratching the surface of the American market," Congress was told.

"The participating countries must intensify their export drive to the dollar areas if they are to attain independence from extraordinary outside assistance," the report went on.

"This will require on the part of many European businessmen a reorganization of factory methods, installation of new and more efficient machinery in order to reduce costs, greater attention to merchandising and advertising, redesigning of products and packaging to suit American preferences and a determination to serve American customers with the care and attention they receive from American producers."

It also will be necessary, the report said, for the Marshall plan countries to give their exporters incentives to enter the tough American market. This will be done by the Economic Administration, G. Hoffman has suggested, by letting the exporting companies keep a share of the dollars earned in export trade.

Violence Takes Lives of 7 in Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Seven persons have died violently in Arkansas so far this week. One of the victims, L. B. Watson, 42, of Texarkana, was killed while on a deer hunt Monday near Mena Ark. He was shot by a fellow hunter who mistook him for a deer and fired.

Seven-year-old Bobby Wayne Hughes was crushed fatally beneath the wheels of a tractor at his farm home near Lake Village Monday. He toppled from the driver's seat beneath the vehicle's wheels.

Roger Sager, 16, of Gillett was killed when thrown through the windshield of a car from the impact of a truck auto collision. The accident occurred about 15 miles southwest of DeWitt Monday.

Assassins of Gandhi Are Put to Death

Ambala, India, Nov. 15 (AP) — The young editor who assassinated Mohandas K. Gandhi and the man who told him to do it were sprung simultaneously through a gallows trap at the Ambala central jail this morning. Their bodies were cremated immediately afterward.

Narayan V. Godse and Narayan B. Apte, two Hindu journalists, walked to their death with smiles on their faces. Their foreheads were painted with sacred marks. Each man carried a small package, presumably of Hindu scriptures, which they were allowed to hold as their hands were tied behind them.

A moment before the trap was sprung the two young fanatics shouted in unison "may the united India be immortal. We salute the holy motherland."

There were the nationalist slogans that had inflamed them to take the life of the sainted Hindu spiritual leader who hated violence so much he tried to end Moslem-Hindu strife.

A witness to the execution, which ended a two-year legal battle following Gandhi's assassination in a New Delhi garden Jan. 30, 1948, said the two men thanked the jailors for their kindness and asked that they "finish the business quickly."

Godse the 26-year-old editor of the Poona Daily had fired the shot that killed Gandhi as he walked to prayer in front of hundreds of his followers. Apte, the publisher of the newspaper, was executed for leading the plot. Four other men received sentences of life imprisonment for participation in the plot while a fifth was acquitted.

Hours after the hanging officials still refused publicly to confirm or deny that the execution had taken place. To avoid demonstrations and possible violence even the closest relatives were not told.

A strict curfew had been placed around the prison all night and until after the execution. Police feared there might be violence among some 17,000 nearby Hindu and Sikh refugees, many of them sympathetic to the anti-Moslem Godse.

Police held two men — apparently friends of Godse's — who attempted during the night to scale the 20-foot walls of the jail. Otherwise no disturbances were reported.

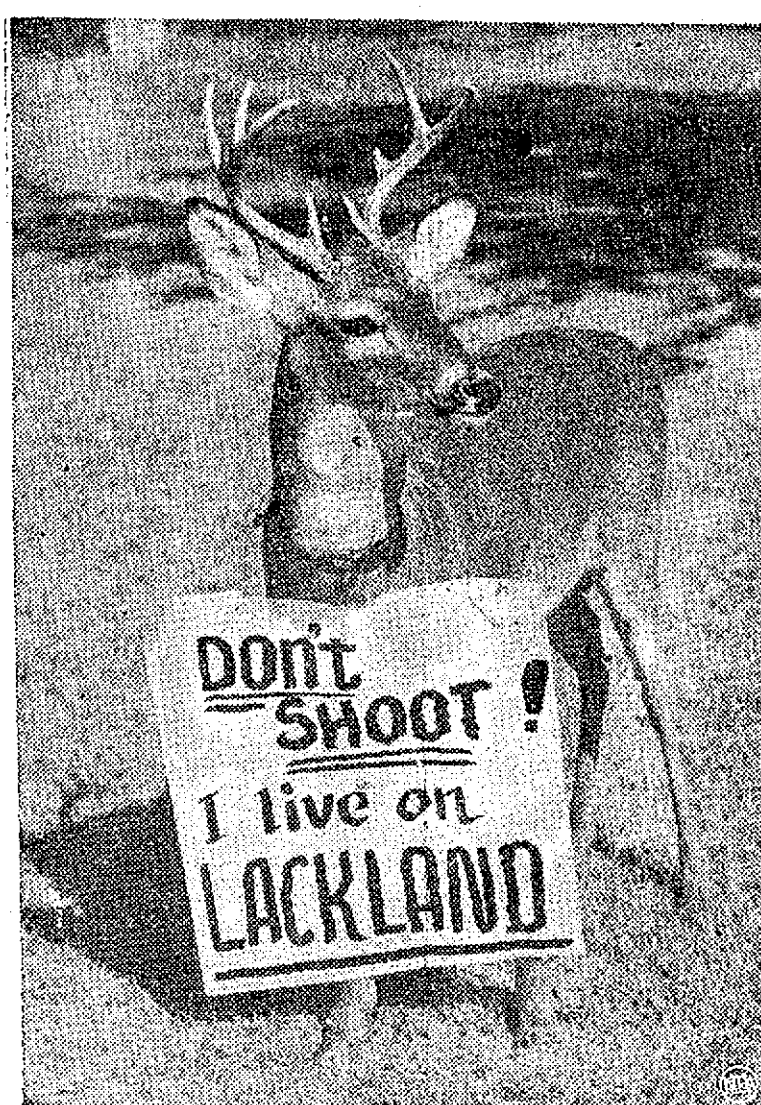

The note was delivered to the representatives in Washington of Russia, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, and Yugoslavia. The Soviet Ukraine republic also signed the November 11 agreement, but is not represented here.

Parallel notes are being delivered by France and the United Kingdom, the state department announced.

The new action is an outgrowth of the 1948 international meeting at Belgrade where Russia and the Soviet bloc took control and wrote a new treaty for control of the Danube over the protests of the United States, France, Britain and Austria. On the Soviet-run control group neither Austria nor Germany is represented although they were the most important belligerent states before World War II.

The effect of the new action, officials said, is to perpetuate the division of the Danube which is one of Europe's principal waterways.

There are about 250,000 roadside service stations in the United States.

U. S. Considers Soviet River Bloc Invalid

Washington Nov. 15 (AP) — The United States served notice on Russia and five Soviet bloc states today that it considers invalid their new commission to control shipping on the Danube river.

The commission was set up Nov. 11 at Galatz, Romania. It replaced a control commission dating back to 1921 on which five Western nations were represented.

An American note today said that the new arrangement, coupled with the device of Soviet-controlled joint shipping companies on the river, is "clearly designed to enable the Soviet union to maintain a monopoly of Danubian commerce."

The Soviet bloc commission it was charged, violates the peace treaties signed with Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania and "violates the concept of international waterways which has been recognized in Europe for more than 130 years."

The note was delivered to the representatives in Washington of Russia, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, and Yugoslavia. The Soviet Ukraine republic also signed the November 11 agreement, but is not represented here.

Parallel notes are being delivered by France and the United Kingdom, the state department announced.

Acheson to Try to Gain Release of U. S. Envoy

Washington Nov. 15 (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson returns from Europe today to face a problem that has some of his top men boiling mad and at their wit's end.

The problem: How to free American Consul Angus Ward and four of his staff from a Chinese communist jail, presumably at Mukden in Manchuria.

Privately, aides of Acheson say the imprisonment of Ward is "barbaric" and they are linked beyond question at the Chinese communists. They are not however, at the point of acting on informal suggestions that the U. S. take a big stick to the communists in the form of military force or threat of force.

Ward's captivity has stretched out to three weeks, and the Chinese made it plain they are in no hurry to do anything about it. They have withheld all information about the health, treatment or trial date of the group, who are charged with beating a Chinese employee of the U. S. consulate at Mukden.

About all the state department knows about the charges is what has been heard on the communist radio. Telegrams sent by other members of the consulate staff have been intercepted. There has been on reply to a letter "requesting" the communist authorities to take "appropriate action," sent November 3 by Consul General O. Edmund Clubb at Peiping the communist capital.

What to do next except wait and see has the state department stumped at the moment. The United States eventually may be in a position to bring political and economic pressure, directly and through the United Nations, but right now the new Russian-supported Peiping regime is in a nose-thumbing mood toward the West.

Under somewhat similar circumstances the United States used the threat of force to bring about the release of an American civilian who was captured by a Moroccan bandit 45 years ago.

Murray Rules on Liquor Possession

Little Rock — Beer and whiskey may be legally possessed in a "dry" county up to the total of the amounts allowed for each class of beverage, Attorney General Lee Murray ruled Monday.

An opinion by Chief Assistant John Williams said up to three gallons of beer may be transported into a dry county and a maximum of one gallon of liquor or wine may at the same time, legally be in the possession of a dry county resident.

Previous statutes prohibited possession of a quantity of beer and or wine totalling more than one gallon the opinion said.

The opinion was to Deputy Prosecutor Royce Weisenberger of Hope.

Make Peace or U.S. Will Step in Lewis Told

Labor Dispute May Tie Up Coastal Shipping

By The Associated Press

A labor dispute threatened today to tie up some 500 passenger and dry cargo vessels on Atlantic and Gulf coast ports and make idle about 25,000 ship crew members.

A strike was set for midnight tonight by some 2000 members of an AFL dock officers union in a dispute with ship operators. The major issue was rotating jobs.

Government mediators made last minute efforts to avert the threatened walkout of the AFL masters, mates and pilots union. The strike would not halt movement of oil tankers and coal carrying vessels.

As the maritime strike threatened, there appeared little progress in the nation's coal dispute. But the steel industry was gradually returning to normal production as additional companies signed strike-ending contracts.

The government marked time in the coal dispute. But there were hints it was ready to make some move in an attempt to effect a settlement between the soft coal operators and John L. Lewis.

However, the contract talks remained deadlocked as the operators appeared cool to Lewis' invitation to resume talks. Government action may be appointment of a fact-finding board by President Truman with authority to recommend a settlement of the six months old dispute.

Meanwhile, the 380,000 miners who were on strike for 52 days continued digging coal. But Lewis has threatened to take them out of the pits on Dec. 1 if a settlement is not reached.

In Washington directors of the Southern Coal Producers' association scheduled a meeting to discuss the demands to be made on Lewis to lighten up expenditures from the welfare and pension fund. The operators, who contribute 20 cents a ton royalty to finance the $100,000,000 a year fund, have more to say about how the funds are spent.

Josephine Roche the fund director, said about 175 employees of the fund were to be laid off as the fund continued on Page Two

Girl Friend of Heer Denies Quarrel

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 15 —(AP)—A young woman who danced with James E. Heer shortly before he shot and killed a fellow student at Ohio State university had denied they quarreled on saying goodnight. Joyce Crafton says Heer was only "slightly amorous."

That was her reply yesterday to the statement of a Columbus detective that the shooting of Jack T. McKeown was an aftermath of a quarrel she had given the admitted slayer's improper advances.

Miss Crafton had come from her Cleveland home last Friday to accompany Heer to a homecoming party preceding the Ohio State football game. The shooting occurred early Saturday morning after the party, near the fraternity house where both Heer and McKeown lived.

Through her attorney yesterday Miss Crafton told newsmen: "There were no improper advances. There was no violent argument either at the dance or after it. He became slightly amorous while saying goodnight. That is all."

In her statement, she denied that Heer was even angry when he left her.

A grand jury, probably next week, will consider a first-degree murder charge against Heer.

The Franklin county (Columbus) jury meets Monday, and, although the prosecuting attorney's office could not confirm it, the assumption was that the charge would be considered there.

Heer, a handsome, curly-haired ex-marine from Euclid, O., is charged with fatally shooting McKeown, a journalism senior, after a homecoming dance early Saturday. McKeown's home was in Norwood, O., a Cincinnati suburb.

Heer is 20; McKeown was 21. Three officers of Delta Tau Delta, the fraternity in which McKeown was an active and Heer a pledge, were removed from their posts yesterday by the university's council on student affairs. They were Prof. Frank M. Mallett, faculty adviser; James E. Rhodes, the chapter's president; and George V. Fisher, the social chairman.

University officials said they admitted a violation had been committed Friday against the university rule prohibiting the serving of liquor in student housing accommodations. The council's action bans them from holding any fraternity office in the future.

Earlier the university's board of trustees passed a rule prohibiting keeping of firearms or any dangerous weapons in any recognized university housing facility.

Safety Program Gets Down to Brass Tacks

Little Rock, Nov. 15 —(AP)—Governor McMath's highway safety conference got down to brass tacks today.

A group of state judges, law enforcement officials and interested citizens laid before the conference proposed recommendations which they believed would reduce traffic deaths in Arkansas.

The group, a committee on laws and ordinances, proposed that: "No driver's license be issued to persons under 17; a rigid examination be given every driver; the state set up a department to make frequent inspections of every motor vehicle for mechanical faults; a uniform traffic code be adopted in all municipalities; pedestrians be held responsible for obeying traffic laws."

Other reports were to be heard from committees on law enforcement, accident records, education, engineering, public information, motor vehicle registration and organized public support.

Top billing on today's program was to go to selection of members for a permanent safety council to ride herd on the state's rapidly rising highway death toll.

Naming council members and election of officers was to windup the two-day meeting.

Little Rock, Nov. 15 —(AP)—Measures of obtaining additional rural telephone service for Arkansas will be discussed at a meeting here Nov. 30.

Governor McMath yesterday called the meeting. Representatives of existing telephone companies, the extension service, farm organizations and interested persons were asked to attend.

The governor's announcement cited the rural telephone act signed by President Truman. The measure is patterned after the rural electrification act through which electric power was extended to farmers.

Out of curiosity a farmer had grown a crop of flax and had a tablecloth made of the linen.

"I grew this tablecloth myself," he said later to a woman guest at dinner.

"Did you really," she exclaimed. "How did you ever manage it?"

Lowering his voice he replied mysteriously: "Can you keep a secret?"

"Well," yes," confided the farmer. "I planted a napkin."

Retiring Head Addresses Baptist Group

Little Rock, Nov. 15 —(AP)—The retiring president of the Arkansas Baptist State convention charged today that "separation of church and state, and religious liberty is being threatened in America."

Dr. E. C. Brown, Blytheville, Ark. told delegates to the 96th Baptist State convention here that "selfish politicians are willing to violate the constitution to keep themselves in office."

Dr. Brown hurled the charge at education aid to parochial (church sponsored) schools.

"Evil and pagan forces would undermine the very foundation of this democracy. Men who have not the courage or deep and abiding convictions concerning the constitution of this nation whose sole interest is to keep themselves in office, are submitting to the pressure of selfish and pagan interests."

They are favoring federal aid education laws which would grant federal tax money to parochial schools. We must counter-attack now," Dr. Brown said.

The CAMEO
By Virginia Teale
Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The Story: Martin Falter has been murdered and the motive seems connected with a valuable camera which he was trying to sell through Arnold Pfeiffer. Nell O'Neill claimed the cameo was hers. Hagar Blair, gift shop owner, who wants the cameo, discovers the murdered man and her assistant, Stephanie Smith, comes on the scene soon afterwards. When they go to Hagar's house, they find the cameo in Hagar's collection. Unbeknownst to them, Arnold Pfeiffer listens as Stephanie reveals she is Nell O'Neill's niece, unrecognized by Nell and the cameo belonging to Stephanie's mother. Later Audrey Yakov, who also has reasons for wanting the cameo, calls on Hagar.

Hagar Blair considered Audrey Yakov's request to see her cameo collection. It might show how much he knew about cameos. But her finest pieces were in the bedroom and Stephanie was in there. She might show him the cameo in her studio.

"If you'd like to see a few minor pieces, come along out to my studio," Yakov eagerly followed her outside to a shed in the rear of the yard. She unlocked the padlock on the heavy redwood door. Yakov stood outside until Hagar turned on the light.

It appeared that Hagar Blair was a competent sculptor, but not a genius, he decided, surveying her work. "Enchanting," he said. "You work much in wood, I see."

Hagar glanced suspiciously at the Russian, but saw in his face only enthusiasm and admiration. Grudgingly, she began to think of him as not a bad fellow, after all. "Here are the cameos," she said, her voice almost cordial. Yakov did not miss her changed tone and smile.

Yakov peered in. "Very interesting pieces. I see no cameliens." "I like the cameliens best and keep them in the house where I can look at them. That sardonyx, fourth from the left on the fifth shelf, is very similar to the famous Tazza Farnese. You've seen it at the Metropolitan Museum, I suppose?"

ness matters were discussed. Mrs. Findley Ward gave the Bible study and Mrs. K. H. Barr gave the survey article on "Evangelism," using as her topic "Do We Witness for Christ?" The hostesses served a dessert course to 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Ury McKenzie.

Father's Right Rail Passenger Rate Hike Approved

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Another raise in basic railroad passenger fares in the East now has government sanction. Coach tickets will move above the price of pre-war Pullman transportation.

The interstate commerce commission, splitting 6 to 4 on the matter, issued the increase authority to 61 Eastern lines late yesterday. It permits a 12 1/2 per cent hike in both coach and sleeping-parlor car mileage charges. It may be made effective on five days' notice.

Commutation fares are not affected, but the upward revision in basic interstate passenger rates will go to 3.376 cents per mile in coaches and 4.5 cents per mile in Pullman coaches.

This compares with 2-cent coach rates and 3-cent Pullman rates in 1941. Four increases since then have advanced the Eastern rates more than 50 per cent.

Southern and Western railroads in the same period have made advances of about 20 per cent. The basic rates in these sections now being 2.5 for coaches and 3.5 for Pullmans.

The ICC majority said the lines had proven their case. It held that more railroad income is needed in the light of heavier operating expenses and that the new rates "will still be relatively low" when compared to the general level of incomes "and prices generally."

Mutilated Body of Little Girl Found in L. A.

Los Angeles Nov. 15 (AP)—Little six-year-old Linda Joyce Glucoft, missing from her home since yesterday afternoon, was found slain near her home today. The body was found under rubbish and an axe was nearby.

Earlier police had announced that they were seeking a known pedophile, charged with molesting children, who also was missing from the neighborhood.

The child is the daughter of Jules and Lillian Glucoft. The father is a commercial artist.

The child's body brutally mutilated was found in the back yard of a modest dwelling near her home. It was jammed into a box that was covered with rubbish.

Immediately one of the most intensive man-hunts in the city's history was begun for the fiendish slayer.

It was in that vicinity that the murders of Nina Martin and her sister, Mae occurred in 1924—a case that led to the conviction of Scott E. Stone, a night watchman.

The case was the city's most brutal child murder since 1946, when six-year-old Rochelle Gluskoter, daughter of butcher Abe Gluskoter was kidnapped at play. Her body was found more than seven years later in the hills, and although scores of persons have been questioned and one now is being held, no formal charges have ever been filed.

Famous Dancer Bill Robinson Seriously Ill

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, 71-year-old veteran stage and screen dancer was in a hospital today, seriously ill of a heart ailment.

An official of Columbia-Presbyterian medical center said Robinson was not in a crisis at this time, but that because of his age, his condition was considered "serious and uncertain."

The Negro dancer was admitted to the hospital late yesterday, after an unspecified heart condition, which had bothered him previously, became intensified, the official said. He was placed in an oxygen tent.

Robinson celebrated his 62nd birthday nine years ago by dancing 62 blocks down Broadway. He was honored by the city for his 60 years in show business on April 29, 1946, when Mayor William O'Dwyer proclaimed "Bill Robinson day."

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man 55. Have been a widower for fifteen years. When my wife died leaving me with three children, I resolved to dedicate my life to them until they were grown and capable of making their own way. I have done this, and as I have been a prosperous businessman I have given them every advantage. Now the oldest are grown and out on their own, having successful careers, and the youngest is in college. About nine months ago I met a woman with whom I have fallen in love and whom I want to marry, but my children are bitter against it. No objection to the woman in question, just that they don't want me to marry anyone. What shall I do?

Answer: Say no more to your selfish and ungrateful children, but go off quietly and marry the lady. They will probably raise ructions and say many things for which they will be sorry, but to marry, and who needs a summer shower and the time will come when they will be thankful that you have established your own life instead of being a hanger-on on theirs.

In Prime of Life
As things go in these days you are in the prime of life and can confidently look forward to many more years. These last decades should be the happiest time of your life. You have come to the time when you can slack down in your work, when you can travel and enjoy things, but you can only find happiness in this latter part of the journey if you have a loved and agreeable companion to bear you company.

Yakovs and mothers must do one or three things. They must live alone when their children have left the home nest, and this is a dreary and forlorn state for those who are growing old and who need companionship. Or a son or a daughter must give up marriage in order to stay at home and take care of widowed father or mother and be left solitary and alone in his or her old age.

Or the widowed father or mother must go and live with his or her married children where he or she may be miserable and discontented.

Far, far better for all concerned for the middle-aged widow and widower to marry and maintain their own homes, have their own interests and the companionship of one of their own age. And foolish are the children who do not give papa and mama their blessings.

Dear Miss Dix: When my husband and I were married we were about on an average in appearance and handsome youngsters at that. Now that we are middle-aged, I have lost all of my good looks and he gets better-looking every year. Everywhere we go women say to me something about how good-looking he is, and it is getting on my nerves and giving me an inferiority complex. I feel that he deserves a prettier wife, but he seems satisfied and he isn't in the least vain and conceited. What to do?

Answer: The only thing you can do is to meet the situation with philosophy and thank Heaven that your husband's good looks haven't turned his head and started him out on a career of philandering.

Many a gawky, lanky boy with an Irish potato face, turns into a handsome and distinguished-looking middle-aged man. But time doesn't deal so kindly with a woman. It changes her from a youth to something that, at its best, we speak of as being "well preserved."

And the cruelty of the thing is that so often the middle-aged woman needs beauty to hold her husband, whereas no middle-aged wife cares a rap whether her husband has lost his figure and his hair if he is good and kind to her.

Of course, no woman ever really enjoys knowing that she presents an ineffectual comparison with her husband, but what of it? All that matters is that she suits him, and if he is satisfied with her it is no boy's case's business. Few men ever take a really good look at their wives after they are married and so they don't perceive the change in them. The chances are that you look just as good to your husband now as you did on your wedding day.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a little saved-off wife. Every time I go to town she raises Cain and the way she talks to me is something awful. What can I do about it?

Answer: The smaller a woman is, the bossier, O. B. D. So if you can't get ahead of her, the best way to do is to mind her and save yourself trouble. If you had wanted a woman you could love you should have married a great big Amazonian lady.

Evangelist Visits Gangster

Los Angeles Nov. 15 (AP)—Is Los Angeles public enemy No. one ready to hit the sawdust trail? Evangelist Billy Graham said he visited Mickey Cohen at the latter's home Saturday night, but the dapper gambler denies ever having talked to him.

"I did my best to kill this story," said the evangelist yesterday. "Mr. Cohen doesn't want this type of story and neither do I. But it is not a publicity story, it is a true story."

Graham said he paid the "social call" to invite Cohen, the Christ for Greater Los Angeles revival. He discussed the matter only after reports of such a meeting were published.

Graham, now in the eighth week of a revival in a downtown tent cathedral, said he spent some time at Cohen's home.

"We had a very pleasant social visit," the evangelist said. "He asked us soft drinks. I invited him to come down to the tent. He made no promises. My only interest is in bringing Mr. Cohen's influence to bear for the cause of the Lord."

Said Cohen: "I don't know what this is all about. I friend talked to me about Billy Graham a couple of weeks ago. But I don't know him. I've never seen him and I've never talked to him."

Graham, a modern day Billy Sunday, has attracted several hundred thousand worshippers in his eight-week-old revival.

Charges West Bloc Plotting a New War

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 14 (UP)—Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky charged today that a new human slaughter is being prepared by an aggressive bloc of states headed by the United States and the United Kingdom.

Vishinsky opened the United Nations committee debate on the Soviet proposal for a pact among the "Big Five" powers "for the strengthening of peace." The Russian measure, introduced before the general assembly's main political committee, condemns the United States and Britain as war-mongers and calls for immediate prohibition of atomic weapons and establishment of international nuclear control.

"This present proposal," Vishinsky told the 50-nation committee, "is consistent with the policy principle pursued by the Soviet Union for peace and cooperation among nations against a war fostered by a band of adventurers and would-be dominators of the world."

"In putting forward these proposals, we are endeavoring to defend peace and avert the threat of a new war. We are against the new human slaughter which is being prepared by a bloc of aggressive states headed by the United States and the United Kingdom."

Time after time, the Russian foreign minister charged that "reactionary circles" in the United States and Britain were plotting a new war. He attacked British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who, Vishinsky said, attempted to shift the blame for the situation in Berlin.

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Supreme court in effect ordered former Rep. Andrew J. May and the Garsons brothers to begin serving prison sentences imposed on them for wartime bribery and conspiracy.

The trial for the second time refused to review the trial. The result in eight to 24-month terms for May, and Henry and Murray Garsons.

May, now 74, was charged with accepting $53,000 from the Garsons for helping them to get war contracts. At the time the Kentucky representative was chairman of the house military committee.

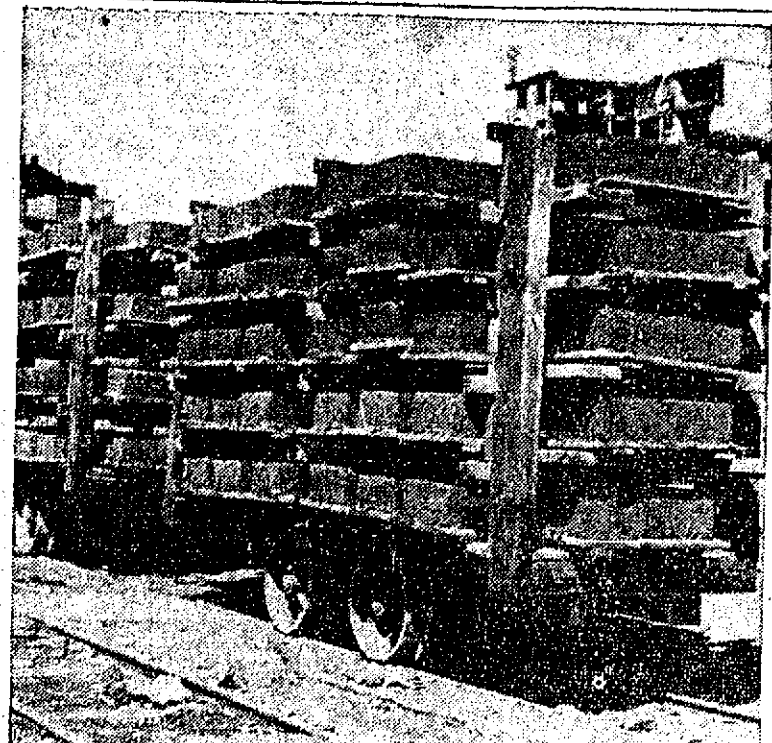

The Supreme court on October 10 denied May and the Garsons a review of their trial. The three then asked the court to reconsider its denial. Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Brandeis took no part in the consideration of the requests.

May and the Garsons have been free on $2,000 bond since their conviction in July, 1947.

Today's action presumably closes the court's doors finally on May and the Garsons. They have the right to file a request for permission to submit a second plea for reconsideration of the October 10 denial. This procedure, however, is rarely used and almost invariably results in another denial.

Barring this move, the usual procedure is for the Supreme court to notify the Circuit court of its action. The Circuit court, in turn, notifies the district court. The government then calls on the defense attorneys to surrender their clients. They are sent to a prison picked by the attorney general. These steps usually require no more than 10 days.

Pumice and pumicite are mined in 11 states and Alaska.

BRICKS FROM WAR'S RUBBLE—These bricks were made from the war rubble in Warsaw, Poland. In special mills located near devastated areas the rubble is ground, sorted, mixed into concrete and finally pressed into bricks. The bricks then go into the rebuilding of the ravaged city.

Newly Married Youth Takes Own Life

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 15 (UP)—A 20-year-old bridegroom of one day scrawled a suicide note on the back of his marriage certificate then killed himself because he married the wrong girl, police said today.

Former high school football star Tommy Lee Schwader wrote a trembling farewell note to his 16-year-old bride, Edna Irene (Jackie) Hamman, which said in part:

"If anybody ever tells you this is a coward's way out, you try it once. Jackie, please don't dream."

The youth's body, the muzzle of a 12-gauge shotgun jammed against his head, was found in his car yesterday barely a day after he and Jackie were married in Yuma, Ariz. He had fired the death blast with his big toe.

Beside his body, officers found a Yuma, Ariz. marriage certificate with a scrawled suicide note on the back. In his pocket, they found a note from the girl he had courted for months, Betty Jean Corn, 16, that turned down his plea to "go steady."

"Tommy was sore because I had broken with him," Betty Jean, the bride's best friend, explained today.

"He married the wrong girl, not the girl he loved. I was sure it would not work out," Betty Jean said. "He married the wrong girl, not the girl he loved. I was sure it would not work out."

Although they went out together in a party Saturday night, Betty Jean said their final break in their romance came the day before when he found she had dated another boy.

But Saturday night after the party, Schwader, a Compton college student talked Jackie into accompanying him to Yuma where they were married by a justice of the peace.

"I thought I loved him," Jackie told police. "But on the way back from Yuma, I suddenly felt it was all wrong. I told him so."

They went to a motel, however, where she said she told him she didn't love him and couldn't live with him.

It was then that the onetime high school football star threatened to take his life. The sobbing girl said.

After the tight-lipped youth drove her to her home, he disappeared.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Schwader, searched frantically for him most of Sunday night. But a stranger, L. C. Walling, was the first to discover Tommy's auto and its grisly contents.

'Sleeping Pill' Bandit Is Arkansan

Miami, Fla., Nov. 15 (UP)—The body of Miami's "sleeping pill bandit" today was identified as that of Joseph Boone Cotton, 25, Little Rock, Ark.

Identification was made by the FBI through fingerprints taken at the Little Rock Naval Recruiting station. Records there, however, did not list a street address or relatives.

Cotton was found dying last Thursday in a Miami hotel room. He was identified by three drug store employees as the bandit who forced them at pistol point to give him a bottle of sleeping pills.

An empty prescription bottle similar to the one taken from the drug store was found on a table in the hotel room. Cotton had registered as "John Roberts."

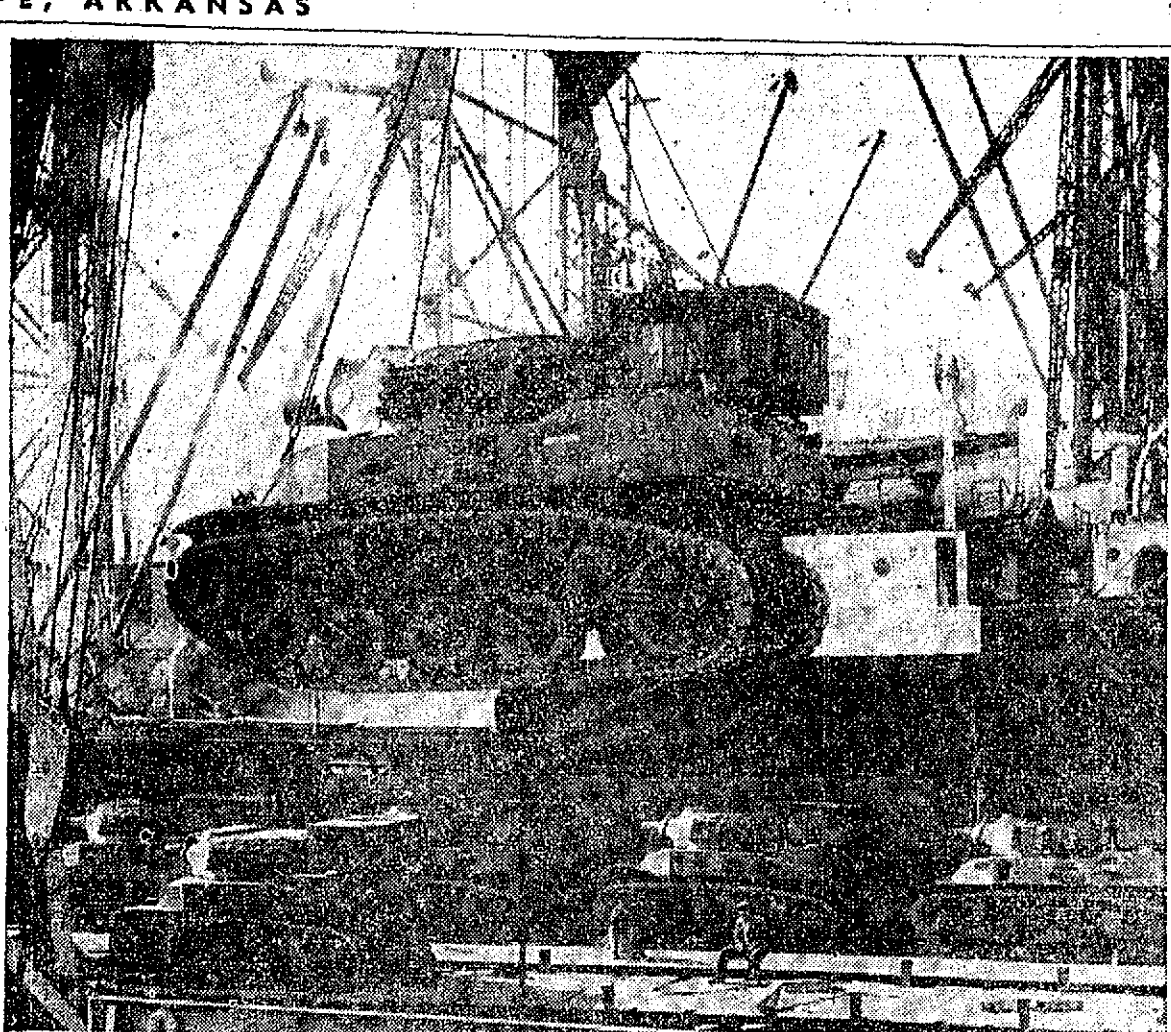

The state laboratory in Jacksonville was examining contents of Cotton's stomach to determine if he died from an overdose of sedatives.

A lady got on the bus and took the only empty seat, next to a harmless-looking, slow-witted man. She opened a map of Manchuria. The drunk studied the map, too, for a time, and finally addressed the lady in an interested tone: "Sure you are on the right bus?" he asked.

Prince Charlie Observes the First Year of a Life That He Can Never Call His Own

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's bonnie Prince Charlie yesterday celebrated his first birthday, thereby passing the initial milestone of a life journey which even as he saw the first light of dawn was dedicated to the interests of the public.

The tiny prince as son of Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the imperial throne, is in line to his mother. In normal course he one day will be king.

So he never will be "his own man." He may mount a golden throne and wear a wondrous crown studded with priceless gems. But even in youth he won't be able to slip away to the old swimming hole when he wants to. He can't play hockey from his job of being heir to the world's greatest throne.

You likely see a recognition of his position in the fact that while the public likes to refer to him as "Bonnie Prince Charlie," he always is called "Charles" in his royal home. He has no nickname, like most little fellows.

By the way, one of my scouts tells me that when the irresponsible Princess Margaret Rose was informed of his birth she asked what he would be called. When told that his name would be Charles she wise-cracked:

"Then I shall be known as 'Charlie's Aunt'!" There are few more exacting jobs in the world than that of being king or queen of England. And next is that of being heir to the throne. Younger brothers and sisters have more freedom, but the heir must start training for his great task almost as soon as he can talk.

Prince Charles soon will be in the hands of an ultra-competent governess who will instruct him in his young years. Always he will be protected from coming into contact with undesirable influences. As soon as he is old enough he will be turned over to tutors who will prepare him for one of the English colleges. As a matter of fact by the time he is ready for the university he already will be a highly educated young man, among other accomplishments speaking one or more foreign languages fluently.

But that is only part of his training. He must know his empire and its peoples. He must know all the intricate ins and outs of government. He must learn the ways of kingship.

ALL THIS OF COURSE involves not only hard study but, when he is old enough, travel throughout the empire upon which the sun never sets. Moreover, there are public engagements, and even in making speeches, And that's no light assignment, for his engagement book more often than not looks like that of a busy country physician.

Oh sure, he gets a bit of time off and has some fun. But he is almost constantly in the public eye and so has to watch his step, because he is looked upon as a paragon of all the virtues. Not only his

Mother of Winchell Is Suicide

New York Nov. 15 (UP)—Mrs. Jennie Winchell, 77, mother of Walter Winchell, plunged to her death last night from her room on the 10th floor of doctor's hospital.

Her private nurse Kathleen Carlton, said she had left Mrs. Winchell's room for a few minutes to obtain the patient's evening meal, and returned to find a window open and Mrs. Winchell gone.

The elderly woman's nightgown-clad body was found on the 87th street sidewalk below. The official police report said she either fell or jumped.

Mrs. Winchell was admitted to the hospital Oct. 24 for treatment of a heart ailment from which she had suffered for several years.

The wife of the columnist and broadcaster said she had notified her husband who was in Miami, Fla., and that he was flying back to New York immediately. She said Winchell told her he had had a "premonition of disaster."

The wife said she had spent several hours with her mother-in-law yesterday and that the elderly woman seemed in good spirits.

When Winchell went to Florida two weeks ago, she said, he had tried to persuade his mother to make the trip but she had not felt well enough.

The elder Mrs. Winchell spent the late summer and early fall in California in the hope of improving her health. Her daughter-in-law went to the West Coast recently and accompanied the columnist's mother back to New York.

Winchell's father Jacob, a retired silk merchant, died in 1940. Another son, Al, is associated with the Emerson Radio and Phonograph corporation.

Two Blind Boys Play Hookey for 24 Hours

Little Rock, Nov. 15 (UP)—Two blind boys who apparently played hookey from the Arkansas school for the blind here for 24 hours were back at school today.

S. M. Wilkes, an employee of the school, found the two boys coming out of the woods along highway No. 10 near here early this morning. They had spent the night in the woods and, said Wilkes, were glad to be back home.

The two were Clevis Post 15 of Thornton Ark., and Leonard Todd, 14, of DeValls Bluff. They were missed when they failed to show up for classes at the school yesterday morning.

J. E. Tyson of the school said neither of the boys had appeared dissatisfied at the institution and that both were "pretty good" students. He expressed the belief that they had been listening to radio programs that told of "escapes" and "decided to try one themselves."

Tyson said the students are allowed to leave the grounds but must first get permission. Post is partially blind and Todd completely blind Tyson said.
